

Abstract of the Disclosure

An information storage medium storing information to generate digital television (DTV) streams, and a method and an apparatus to convert DTV streams are provided. The information storage medium includes multi-streams, interactive contents including information that enables interface with a user, and reproduction control information including conversion information to convert the multi-streams and/or the interactive contents into digital television (DTV) streams.